Life Stories

www.sepodcasts.org is the online portal for the social enterprise, charitable and voluntary sector. Celebrating its 1st birthday, SE Podcasts has made some major site improvements and added new features. Between the 5 channels there are over 350 podcasts with a whole host of organisations, both nationally and internationally. There are life stories; interviews with some key players in social enterprise, child and youth care; full conferences so you can keep up with current debates and issues, and a whole host of other interesting podcasts. These podcasts are available to listen to on the site, or to download at your convenience. Hosted in Scotland, the site can boast an international flavour and has attracted audiences worldwide. With thousands of people visiting the site in this past year, SE Podcasts is proving to be a popular and worthwhile resource for this sector.

The Blethers Blog

The newest feature on the site comes in the form of The Blethers Blog, an online journal focussing on news, events and conferences in social enterprise and beyond. The Blethers Blog allows you to participate in the discussion so feel free to add a comment.

SE Podcasts is grateful for the support from Communities Scotland who recognised the potential of the site from the very beginning, realising the benefits it could bring to the sector.

What NetWorks can do for you...

SE Podcasts, as part of NetWorks, (one of Kibble's social enterprises) now offers podcasting as a publicity tool for external organisations to post on their websites. The podcasts are also featured on SE Podcasts allowing organisations to publicise their work in the sector and to cover important issues.

Customer Testimonials

NetWorks
a Kibble enterprise

Senscot

Having worked with Networks on several occasions we have found them to be highly professional and capable of producing a great end product. They go out of their way to understand what we want to achieve and take a friendly, flexible attitude to the task. We would certainly recommend this organisation to anyone considering making a podcast.

Social Firms Scotland

Social Firms Scotland commissioned KibbleWorks(NetWorks) to produce a series of podcasts of interviews with people who are involved with Social Firms to be used on our website. The service they provided was great - they worked well to their brief and were very helpful and friendly throughout the process. They delivered us quality podcasts within an agreed timescale at a reasonable price. We are very pleased with the interviews and think the podcasts will be a valuable addition to our website.
